

Apollo 15 Explorers Streaking For Moon

Apollo blastoff . . .

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — America's Apollo 15 explorers rocketed out of earth orbit today and streaked toward the moon on another search for lunar secrets. They are to conduct man's first driving expedition on the surface, a quest among towering mountains and alongside a deep canyon.

Col. David R. Scott, Lt. Col. James B. Irwin and Maj. Alfred M. Worden, all Air Force officers, broke away from the embrace of earth's gravity at 12:30 p.m. EDT as a jarring rocket blast shot them out of orbit and sent them winging toward their distant target and one of history's greatest scientific explorations.

For nearly three hours, the astronauts had circled the globe in the command ship Endeavour, checking the craft's hundreds of systems before committing themselves to the three-day outward voyage. Then they reignited the third stage of their Saturn 5 rocket and their speed accelerated from about 17,400 to about 24,300 miles per hour.

The Saturn 5 propelled them away from their home planet right on time at 9:34 a.m. as an estimated one million persons watched in the Cape Kennedy area.

"Good job," Scott told the launch crew. "It was a very smooth ride all the way."

All three stages of the Saturn 5 fired precisely on schedule and propelled the spacemen riding in the command ship Endeavour into earth orbit more than 100 miles high.

Half an hour after firing toward the moon, the astronauts separated Endeavour, pivoted around 180 degrees and gingerly poked a harpoon-like docking device into a connecting mechanism in the nose of the moon landing ship Falcon, cradled atop the third stage.

"We have hard dock," Worden reported.

The docking exercise, relayed live on television by the astronauts, went smoothly.

For three days, Scott, Irwin and Worden are to soar across the vast ocean of space and fire into lunar orbit Thursday.

On Friday, Scott and Irwin plan to steer the lunar landing craft they call Falcon to a precision landing in a basin at the base of the Apennine Mountains, tallest on the moon with peaks rising 15,000 feet high.

They would be the fourth American two-men team to land on the moon in two years.

Scott, Irwin and Worden were roused at 4:19 a.m. for a brief medical examination and the traditional launch day breakfast of steak, eggs, toast, coffee and orange juice. "They're in great shape," said Donald K. Slayton, director of flight crew operations.

Technicians helped them into their white spacesuits with the bubble helmets and the American flag emblazoned on the sleeves.

As the astronauts left the crew quarters, they smiled and waved at about 500 space workers and newsmen who applauded and shouted, "Good luck!"

Several members of Worden's family were in the crowd. The astronaut blew them a kiss and briefly shook hands with his father, Merrill Worden of Jackson, Mich.

The spacemen were transported to the launch pad nine miles away in an air conditioned van and rode a high-speed elevator up 320 feet to the spacecraft level.

Throughout the night, the launch crew was busy pumping more than 800,000 gallons of liquid hydrogen and liquid oxygen into the fuel tanks of the Saturn 5.

The astronauts are embarking on what mission commander Scott calls "the most singular, significant scientific expedition ever conducted . . . It is a journey backwards in time—to the first pages of the history of the creation of the solar system."

They hope to return to earth on Aug. 7 with rocks dating back to the birth of the moon, confirmation of whether volcanoes ever erupted there and enough information for scientists to draw an age map of nearly 20 per cent of the surface.

As they relaxed in the crew quarters prior to retiring, the astronauts received a telephone call from President Nixon wishing them "Godspeed" on their lunar mission.

They would be the fourth American crew to land on the moon in two years—the seventh and eighth men to stamp their footprints in the dust of the alien land.

Registration Drive Beginning This Week

The Sedalia-Pettis County chapter of the League of Women Voters Monday began a voter registration drive this week for recently enfranchised 18-20 year olds.

Mrs. John B. Ellison, 2236 West Third, is coordinating the effort with area Young Republican and Young Democrat groups. She is chairman of the League's voter service committee.

Mrs. Ellison said that political groups and other interested young people would receive a list of all 18-20 year olds in the city in order to conduct a telephone canvass. Youths who are called will be advised of how they can register and the questions they have will be answered.

County Clerk Mary Jane Wilson will cooperate with the drive, Mrs. Ellison said. She anticipates no problems with the registration of college students. Presently there are no state guidelines on whether college students should register in their hometown or in the city where they attend school.

Also as part of the League program, beginning Tuesday, a voter key listing all elective officeholders in the city and county, their term of office and a list of appointed officials will be made available at the county clerk's office.

Mrs. Ellison reported the drive for young voters would continue through the fall with the state office of the League possibly administering some related programs.

Mrs. Ellison said she had received indications that area young people were interested in utilizing their recently granted right to vote.

The 26th amendment to the Constitution went into effect July 1 when two-thirds of the states finally ratified it. The new law reduced the voting age in all to 18.

Demography Is Studied In Survey

(Democrat-Capital Service)

WASHINGTON — The percentage of people living in urban areas, the median value of owner-occupied housing units and the average age of voters in the Fourth Congressional District were revealed in a "population characteristics" study released Monday by Congressman William Randall.

Among other things, the study shows that the district's total population, based on the latest census figures, stands at 527,990, 21.8 per cent above the 1960-70 period. That means about 58.2 individuals live in one square mile of area in the district, Randall said.

Those figures compare to an 8.3 population increase for Missouri in the same period, causing an average of 67.7 people to live per square mile of area in the state.

According to Randall, the study proves that the Fourth District is in closer conformity with state averages than any other district in Missouri.

"The median value of owner-occupied housing units is (in the district) $14,500 and most nearly approximates Missouri's median of $14,400," he said.

Randall also pointed out that the recently-approved 18-year-old voting age law gave the Fourth District the second largest number of prospective new voters in the state. The largest area was not disclosed.

The age distribution of children in the district, Randall said, indicates that 43,002 are under five years old, with another 135,983 school-age youngsters living in the area. Those 65 years and over totalled 58,530 and made up 11.1 per cent of the district's population.

Thousands of Sedalians, mostly women, took time to check and double check price tags before buying the wide variety of merchandise on sale Monday on downtown sidewalks. Here, Mrs. Mae Wilken, left, 1421 South Missouri, seeks the help of a

Ready For Invasion

Captured Document Reveals Enemy Plan

SAIGON (AP) — Hanoi foresaw the eventuality that the United States would take the war to North Vietnam's territory 14 months before President Lyndon B. Johnson launched the sustained bombing of the North in February 1965, according to a captured document made public by the U.S. Embassy today.

A resolution of the Central Committee of the North Vietnamese Communist party, adopted at a meeting in December 1963, said the "favorable development of the revolution in the South depends on our unceasing efforts to strengthen North Vietnam."

"Therefore, we must increase our economic and defensive strength in North Vietnam," it continued. "We should increase our vigilance at all times and be ready to face the enemy's new schemes. At the same time, we should be prepared to cope with the eventuality of the expansion of the war into North Vietnam."

The resolution also foresaw the possibility of the major buildup of U.S. forces in Vietnam which began in mid-1965 and reached a peak strength of 543,400 in April 1969. But it said this possibility was remote.

It said the Americans might "carry on the war at the present or slightly higher level" or they might "intensify the war by bringing in troops many times larger or both American troops and troops from the Southeast Asian aggressive bloc will intervene in the war."

The resolution said such an escalation might occur if:

—First, faced with their numerous difficulties in South Vietnam, the U.S. imperialists believe that they will be successful if they fight more violently.

—Second, the U.S. believes that the North will not strongly react.

—Third, if they believe their increased involvement in the war in South Vietnam will not raise a strong opposition from the people of the U.S. and the world.

"However, the above are only remote possibilities because the U.S. cannot evaluate all the disastrous consequences she might bear if she wages the war on a larger scale."

Chances Are Dim For Lockheed Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite an eleven-hour appeal by President Nixon, Senate Republicans were gloomy today over chances of a quick vote on a bill to aid Lockheed Aircraft Corp. and other big businesses in financial trouble.

Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., said repeated efforts will be made this week to gain the two-thirds vote required to silence Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., and a bipartisan band of Lockheed opponents trying to talk the bill to death.

Tower said prospects of winning, although dim for the first debate-shutoff vote, scheduled this afternoon, are "very good" for the next attempt planned for Wednesday. Even if that should fail, Tower said, he is confident the bill will pass before the weekend.

War Dads Ceremony

About 60 members of the Missouri chapter of American War Dads and their families attended the annual picnic of the Pettis County chapter Sunday afternoon at Liberty Park. A highlight of the day was the presentation of a Missouri flag to Sedalia by local chapter President Ed Bryant, third from left, Cole Camp. Bryant said that the flag was given to him by Gov. Warren E. Hearnes. He said he is presenting the state flag because "not enough people know what it looks like." To Bryant's left is War Dads state president Norman Piper, St. Joseph. At extreme right is Mayor Jerry Jones.

First Juror Selected For Trial of Medina

FT. McPHERSON, Ga. (AP) — Col. William Proctor, a veteran of three wars, was tentatively seated today as the first juror in the court-martial of Capt. Ernest Medina after a morning court session of intensive questioning.

Proctor, 47, of Decatur, Ga., is chief of the aviation division at U.S. 3rd Army headquarters here. He is a combat veteran of World War II, Korea and Vietnam.

Proctor, who has 29 years of service in the Army, was questioned closely by both the defense lawyer, F. Lee Bailey, and the Army prosecutor, Maj. William Eckhardt, about his reaction to the recent conviction of Lt. William Calley Jr. for 22 murders at My Lai.

Bailey asked Proctor: "Do you have any feeling that the My Lai incident was a bad mistake and that someone should pay for it?"

"No," Proctor said.

Medina, of Montrose, Colo., was commander of Charlie Company when the Americal Division infantry unit swept through the Vietnamese hamlet Mary 16, 1968.

The 34-year-old wiry captain will be tried on a noncapital basis, which means the maximum sentence a jury could give him would be life imprisonment.

One of his platoon leaders at My Lai was Lt. William L. Calley Jr., who was convicted at Ft. Benning, Ga., March 29 of murdering 22 civilians at the Vietnamese hamlet. Calley could have gotten a death sentence, but the jury set his term at life. His case is under review.

Medina denied in testimony at Calley's court-martial that he ordered his troops to kill civilians at My Lai.

The military judge, Col. Kenneth Howard, and lawyers for both sides have said they expect Medina's trial to be considerably shorter than Calley's 4½-month court-martial.

Medina is charged with premeditated murder but the Army has said he is held responsible for the deaths and is not accused of personally slaying 100 civilians. The captain is accused in two separate charges of killing two victims himself.

Howard said he thinks the approach to Medina's case will be along the lines of the case of Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita. After World War II, the United States prosecuted the Japanese general for failing to stop atrocities of his troops in the Philippines.

The United States never established that Yamashita ordered the atrocities, but hanged him for failing to take sufficient measures to stop them.

Howard presided over the court-martial of My Lai defendant Sgt. Charles Hutto. Hutto, S. Sgt. David Mitchell and Capt. Eugene Kotouc were acquitted of charges arising from the operation at My Lai.

Parents Unhappy About Girl's Move

Dear Ann Landers: Our problem is one faced by many parents these days. Can you help us?

Briefly: College daughter — bright, attractive, well adjusted. Good relationship with both parents. We were told yesterday that she is moving into an apartment with a boyfriend she has known for four months. She says they are not ready for marriage and they don't want to sneak around.

We love our daughter, but we are strongly opposed to this life style. We are also unhappy that she would behave so irresponsibly and make things so difficult for those who love her. The problems are: (1) Our younger children (three high schoolers) are torn between loyalty to their sister and their parents. (2) The grandparents are appalled and bewildered by what they consider gross immorality. How should we handle this? — Alameda.

Dear Alameda: Keep the lines of communication open. You don't have to visit your daughter and her boyfriend in their pad, but do let her know that they are welcome in your home.

High school kids are old enough to decide where they want to go. If they want to visit their sister, don't prohibit it. It goes without saying that you should not be contributing financially to a setup which you consider unacceptable. A girl who opts for a life style which her parents find deplorable should not expect them to finance it.

Dear Ann Landers: I considered myself a nice person — thoughtful and generous — until a few months ago. A certain woman who works in our office is bringing out some unattractive qualities in me that I am ashamed of.

Every day on my way to work I buy the paper that prints your column. I take it home in the evening for the family to read. This co-worker of mine brags that she only reads two things — Ann Landers and the horoscope. If this is all that dumbbell cares about, wouldn't you say it should be worth 10 cents? I start to do a slow burn every morning about 10:15 a.m. because I know she's going to ask, "May I read your paper?"

Should I tell her "NO" or should I derive myself and my family of the paper in order to stop her mooching? — The Cringer.

Dear Cringer: Why bite off your nose to spite your face? Since this woman is obviously getting to you, tell her, "Yes, I DO mind. You are trying to get something for nothing and I resent it."

Offer to let her read your paper in exchange for a dime which she can drop into an envelope marked "Charity." At the end of every month send the contents to your local chapter for Retarded Children.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a widow 76 years of age who is going with an attractive widower who brags that he is 80 and can see better, hear better, hog-call louder, and out-country dance any man 20 years his junior. This might be true, but when he drives his car I sit with my rosary in my lap the whole time. We've had so many close calls I can't count them. My two sons and my son-in-law have offered to drive us anywhere and pick us up. They worry about his driving, too.

Yesterday he came over puffed up like a pigeon. His driver's license was renewed. What should I do? — Cat With Nine Lives.

Dear Cat: Tell Mr. Number-One-Hog-Caller that his driving makes you very nervous and you'll provide the chauffeur service from now on — or you'll meet him there.

Familiar Faces Seen in China

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. intelligence specialists peering through the Bamboo Curtain have spotted some familiar faces among those who may be with Premier Chou En-lai when President Nixon visits Peking.

Among the younger aides is 27-year-old U.S.-born Nancy Tang, described as Chou's main English interpreter.

Two of the most important are older men who had considerable experience with Americans in the years before the U.S.-Mainland China break in 1949. Chiao Kuan-ma and Chang Wen-chin speak fluent English and are rated as skilled professionals.

Chiao, formerly a vice minister of foreign affairs involved in Peking's relations with the Soviet Union and Communist East Europe, had American and West European affairs added to his assignment late last year.

Chiao is said to have served as a Communist liaison officer with Westerners during the 1940s and later with the New China News Agency in Hong Kong.

Chang, listed as chief of the West European and Americas department in Peking's foreign ministry, took part in the 1946 talks with the special U.S. mission to China headed by Gen. George C. Marshall.

Another senior Red Chinese official is Tang Ming-chao. He has been with the Central Committee's department handling relations with Communist parties and countries abroad.

Tang lived in the United States for more than two decades and obtained U.S. citizenship while in this country. He edited a pro-Communist Chinese newspaper in New York City, and worked for the U.S. military as a translator during World War II, before returning to China in 1949.

Tang's daughter, Nancy, appears to be Chou's principal English interpreter though Chou has considerable knowledge of the language.

Man Shows Real Need For Psychiatric Care

Dr. Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb — Could you tell me what causes a man to want to wear woman's clothes? He likes to sleep wearing woman's briefs and panties.

Dear Reader — While children may do any number of unusual things in the process of exploring and growing up, such behavior in an adult is a sign of a severe emotional disturbance. It should be regarded as an illness and needs medical attention. Such persons cannot usually help themselves, they need help and that usually means seeing a psychiatrist. Any family doctor can be helpful in making the arrangements or the medical society will help locate a psychiatrist.

Dear Dr. Lamb — I started the menopause at age 37. I was having deep depression and even suicidal thoughts. I went to several doctors here, only to be told it was something I just had to go through. I went to a gynecologist in a larger city. I was thoroughly examined, something none of the doctors before ever did. The gynecologist put me on hormones and explained people live much longer than they used to and there was no reason a woman should do without hormones, any more than a diabetic should go without insulin. I've been a different person and highly praise a good gynecologist. Why are M.D.s so ignorant about hormones?

Dear Reader — That last question sounds a little bit like that "When did you stop beating your wife" question. Good gynecologists are also M.D.s and your letter suggests that they are not so ignorant about hormones. It is true that doctors have different levels of skill, knowledge and even motivation. Believe it or not, they are even human. The whole field of medicine is too large for one person to "know it all." That is why we have specialists, and they should be used when a problem indicates it.

Hormones are two-edged swords. They can and do provide a lot of benefit in the right case and yours was apparently one of them. Other women sail through the menopause and hardly know they have had it. Still others have complications from female hormone therapy. What is medicine for one is poison for another, so we don't have too many iron-clad rules on treating patients, except one: Each case is different and needs individual attention.

Dear Dr. Lamb — Would you please give again the complete address where one can obtain, with a prescription, drugs for epilepsy at a discount?

Barnard Patient Reported 'Well'

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Dr. Christiaan N. Barnard's latest transplant patient was doing "as well as can be expected" after getting two new lungs and a heart.

Following the operation Sunday, a hospital spokesman said the heart and lungs were functioning normally, but "It is too early to make any prediction about the immediate or long-term result."

Adrian Herbert, 49, a Cape Town dental technician, received his new heart and lungs from Jackson Gunya, about 28, who died Saturday night from injuries he received in a fight.

The operation was Barnard's first combined heart-lung transplant, and the world's fourth. The previous ones were done in the United States, and all the patients died.

Medical sources said heart-lung transplants are no more difficult to perform than those involving only the heart, but chances of survival are considerably slimmer. The most critical period is the two weeks after the graft when the patient's resistance to infection is low and when the transplanted lungs tend to fill with fluid.

Rosaline Gunya, widow of the donor, complained that no one had informed her that her husband was to be used as a donor when she visited him in the hospital before he died.

"I would never have given permission for such a thing if I had known," Mrs. Gunya said.

A hospital spokesman said Gunya's relatives could not be located before the operation.

"This was a police case," he said, "and the permission of the attorney general, government pathologist and the district surgeon were obtained before the donor's organs were transplanted."

Herbert was reported to be "colored," the official South African term for mulattoes. Gunya was black.

Barnard and his team performed the six-hour operation after doing extensive research and experiments with animals. Herbert, bedridden two years with an incurable lung condition that weakened his heart, underwent extensive tests for four weeks before the surgery.

Nevertheless, Barnard reminded newsmen after the operation: "We haven't had any experience with this type of operation clinically, and we'll just have to watch the results very closely."

Untimely Mishap

LONDON (AP) — The London Transport Authority invited a group of city councilmen and police for a bus ride to prove the safety of a new bus route which residents along it had protested. Midway in the ride, the bus ran into a parked car.

"We are reconsidering the scheme," said a spokesman for the transport authority.

Apollo 15 Crew Study in Contrasts

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The Apollo 15 crewmen are a study in contrast: There's an all-American military man; a quiet, reserved plumber's son; a mod-dressing, fast-talking bachelor.

David Randolph Scott, 39-year-old commander of Apollo 15, is an Air Force general's son who has been aimed at a military career since boyhood.

The 6-foot tall, blue-eyed spaceman was born on a military base, got his middle name from an Air Force base and spent his boyhood in military schools.

Scott graduated from the U.S. Military Academy at West Point fifth in a class of 633 in 1954. He took his commission in the Air Force and became a jet pilot.

The Air Force selected him for advanced schooling and Scott earned two master's degrees from Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

He graduated at the top of his class at the Air Force test pilot school and was snapped up by the space agency for astronaut training.

Scott demonstrated his cool on Gemini 8 in 1966 when the spacecraft went out of control. He and astronaut Neil A. Armstrong regained control and brought it to a safe emergency landing.

In 1969, Scott was command module pilot of Apollo 9 and was the first astronaut to fly alone in the Apollo command ship.

Scott is married to the former Ann Lurton Ott of San Antonio. They have two children, Tracy, 10, and Douglas, 7.

The astronaut is known as one of the strongest men in the spacemen's corps. A physical fitness buff, he runs two miles a day.

James B. Irwin Jr., 41-year-old lunar module pilot, survived a near fatal airplane crash in 1961 to win later selection as an astronaut.

Apollo 15 is the first space flight for the Air Force lieutenant colonel.

The son of a plumber, Irwin grew up in Salt Lake City and sought a military career. He attended the U.S. Naval Academy and took his commission in the Air Force.

He became an Air Force jet pilot and later graduated from the test pilot school.

In the 1961 accident, Irwin broke both legs, his jaw and suffered a severe concussion.

The accident, he says, "kind of wiped me out. I never expected I'd ever be able to qualify for the astronaut program."

But he recovered and was selected in 1966.

Irwin is married to the former Mary Ellen Monroe of Corvallis, Ore. They have four children, Joy, 11, Jill, 10, James, 8, and Jan, 6.

The astronaut, who stands 5-foot-8 is a quiet, reserved man who favors dark suits and colorful shirts and wears his black hair long and combed straight back.

Alfred M. Worden, 39, is the command module pilot.

The Air Force major is a talkative, mod-dressing bachelor who dates television stars, stewardesses and secretaries.

He is a graduate of the U.S. Military Academy and a veteran jet pilot. Apollo 15 will be his first space flight.

Worden grew up on a farm near Jackson, Mich., and is the son of a movie projectionist who still works at the Plaza Theater in Jackson.

Worden is a racing fan and from time to time has taken the wheel of racing cars. He drives a white sports car.

He has had a lifelong interest in music and is an accomplished pianist. He recently bought a grand piano which takes up most of the living room in his bachelor apartment here.

Worden was selected as an astronaut in 1966.

He was formerly married and is the father of two daughters, Merrill, 13, and Alison, 11. The girls live with their mother, who has remarried.

Sedalian Finds Pageant Is Impressive, Exciting

By BARBARA MARKMANN
Special to The Sedalia Democrat-Capital

MEXICO — New experiences, new friendships and "old-fashioned" fun highlighted a week of activities here at the 1971 Missouri Pageant for Sedalia's entry, Miss Cynthia Heeren, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Heeren, Route 3.

The week began with a big send-off Monday by the Sedalia Jaycees at the Pettis County Courthouse.

"My most exciting moment came the next day," said Cindy, "when I walked on stage for the first time. I felt so proud that I was classified as one of Missouri's beauties."

For Cindy, that excitement was just the beginning. Each day the Mexico merchants boosted the girls' morale by sending gifts. Among things she received were perfume, a billfold, cosmetics and a manicure set. Cards, notes and flowers from home also helped Miss Sedalia stay on "cloud nine."

There was no friction among the girls and as Cindy put it, "All the girls were so nice!"

Free time was an important part of the pageant, thus eliminating tensions. "We always had time for everything," said Cindy, "and the Mexico Jaycees were great."

"I was really impressed with the opening numbers and the stage," she said.

Among the highlights of the week was the appearance of Phillis George, Miss America 1971. According to Cindy, "she is very striking, humorous, warmhearted, and a beautiful person."

From the pageant, Cindy gained friendships and a wider knowledge of people, cities and herself, she said. "I felt privileged to be in the pageant. 'My advice to the next girl? Have fun! Remember, it is not competing with others, it is competing within yourself, and it is one of the fantastic things every girl should experience,' she said.

Hearnes Denies

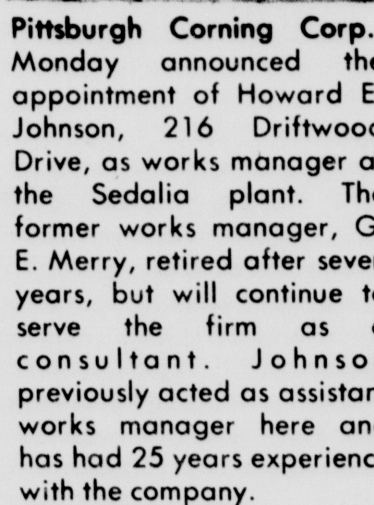

Anderson Quote

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Warren E. Hearnes of Missouri denied today he made charges attributed to him that members of the Kennedy family contributed to the Democratic Party only when a Kennedy was running for office.

Speaking on the NBC "Today" program, Hearnes said he had not made the comment attributed to him by Washington columnist Jack Anderson.

Hearnes said he does not believe the Democratic National Committee should cover the pre-convention debts of any candidate. He said he objected to payment of the campaign debts of the late Sen. Robert Kennedy by the committee, but indicated his stand on the matter applied to all national candidates, not just the Kennedys.

Hearnes said he wanted to "wait and see what happens" before commenting on President Nixon's planned visit to Communist China.

Pittsburgh Corning Corp., Monday announced the appointment of Howard E. Johnson, 216 Driftwood Drive, as works manager at the Sedalia plant. The former works manager, G. E. Merry, retired after seven years, but will continue to serve the firm as a consultant. Johnson previously acted as assistant works manager here and has had 25 years experience with the company.

Police Report

Two men are being held in the city jail for investigation of breaking and entering in connection with the theft of 15 cases of beer from a truck, parked at County Distributing Co., Inc., 1111 East Third.

Over 13 cases of the beer were recovered later Monday morning at Wilson's Trailer Court.

Around 9:05 a.m. Monday Beykirch told police that 14 other cases of beer had been taken from the same truck between last Tuesday and Saturday.

In that case, the truck was parked at Mike O'Connors Chevrolet-Buick-GMC Co., 1300 South Limit.

Glunt was treated for injuries to his left wrist and chin and then transferred to the Whiteman AFB.

The accident occurred as a 1959 Plymouth, driven by Larry Campbell, 24, 2405 Dennis Road, was westbound and making a left turn into a gas station when Glunt's car, a Chevrolet Corvair, also westbound, collided with it.

Tomato Field Day

The 1971 Tomato Field Day will be held from 9 a.m. to noon, July 31, at the University of Missouri Horticultural Research Farm, New Franklin.

After a riding tour, you will visit the tomato research plots to look at the latest in tomato research as conducted by Dr. V. N. Lambeth. You can compare new inbred lines and hybrids with popular introduced varieties and hybrids now available. Both a stake and down planting will be viewed.

Go to New Franklin and follow the signs. New Franklin is on Highway 5, just north of Boonville.

Fall Garden

From now to mid-August you may plant such leafy vegetables as lettuce, spinach, Chinese cabbage, endive, collards, and kale.

Root crops such as carrots, kohlrabi, and radishes also may be planted from now until the middle of August in most areas. During the last week of July there is still time to plant early maturing sweet corn and bush beans.

Many good vegetable varieties suitable for planting at this time are available. For a list of them, as well as the best planting dates in different areas of Missouri, ask for the Vegetable Planting Calendar, guide 6201, at the Extension Center, Fourth and Lamine.

It is too late in the season to grow good cabbage, cauliflower, broccoli, brussels sprouts, and similar crops from seed. In many areas plants can be purchased in late summer. These transplants still have ample time to develop into a good fall crop.

Prepare soil well for the fall vegetable garden to free it of weed growth and residues from previous crops. If fertilizers were used heavily during the summer, it will not be necessary to add any more at the time of planting.

Seeds planted during July and August must germinate during normally hot, dry weather. Frequent light waterings until germination will keep the soil surface moist and promote rapid germination.

Always use good, fresh seeds for the fall garden. There is seldom time for replanting if germination is poor.

Heat and rapidly drying soils can cause injury to shallow planted germinating seeds. Therefore, plant seeds slightly deeper than recommended for spring planting. For example, if the normal sowing depth is one-half inch, sow at about three-fourths inch.

Continuous Flow

This process is what the name implies. The grain flows continuously through the dryer. It enters the dryer wet at the top and comes out the bottom discharge dry and cool. An adjustable grain flow device on the outside of the continuous flow dryer regulates the rate of flow according to the amount of moisture that has been removed.

The continuous flow dryer has a high bushel per hour drying capacity. These vary according to size. For instance, a 2-15 horsepower fan dryer will dry 160 bushels per hour from 25 to 15 per cent, or 110 bushels per hour, 30 per cent moisture to 15 per cent. On the other hand, a much larger system of 4-20 horsepower fan will dry 640 bushels per hour 25 to 15 per cent or 430 bushels from 30 to 15 per cent. A person considering a continuous flow should also consider his power source. This size of fans would require three-phase electric line to operate. It may be necessary to use a tractor unit to supply the power for the fans. Approximately 1500 bushels per day harvested is the breaking point of where a continuous flow system is about necessary to keep up with the drying system.

Batch In Bin

The grain is spread over a perforated floor and dried in a shallow layer, usually from two to four feet deep. This system involves placing a quantity of grain in the dryer, drying it, cooling it, and then removing it to a separate storage structure. This system is usually limited to approximately 1,000 to 1,500 bushel per day drying. This, of course, is related to the size of fan and heater and size of bin that is being used. When using the batch in bin drying system, a grain transfer system must also be planned to have fairly high capacity removal of the grain from the drying bin to the storage bin.

Layer Drying

The grain is dried in layers and placed in the storage structure. Each of the layers is partially dried before the next is added. Therefore, the rate at which the bin can be filled depends on the moisture content of the grain, the drying unit capacity and the management procedure. It is very easy to over-dry the bottom grain, while at the same time not drying the top grain quite enough.

Continuous Flow In Bins

This system is very similar to the continuous flow previously described. However, a sweep auger that operates under the grain removes a small layer of dried grain to the center of the bin where it is taken up a tube and transferred to another bin and cooled there. The system is being used by a number of farmers that are wishing to increase their present drying capacity and already have the grain storage. The system requires a large amount of air to be moved and also a high BTU heater. For instance, a 27 or 30 foot bin should probably have a 2-1/2 million BTU heater and a fan that will deliver from 20 to 25,000 cfm. Depending on the size unit, it may dry up to 150 to 200 bushels per hour with this type system.

Sizing of System

The drying system should be sized to dry approximately 5 per cent of the total bushels, in a 24 hour period at about the 23 to 24 per cent moisture. Harvesting should start at approximately 28 to 30 per cent with the intention of finishing the corn harvest before it reaches 18 per cent. Therefore, about a 23 to 25 per cent average moisture during the harvesting period is desirable.

Top Dress Fescue

Farmers looking for fall pasture are reminded that top dressing tall fescue in August can be the answer.

Howell Wheaton, University of Missouri-Columbia Extension forage specialist, says it is from "fescue and nitrogen that the greatest benefits of late summer top dressing are derived."

Fescue is the best adapted grass now available for stockpiling or accumulating growth and grazing it later in the fall and winter. He adds that other cool season grasses, such

Leaf Scorch Big Problem Now

Leaf scorch is now becoming a common problem of shade trees and shrubs. It often begins as a yellowing between the veins or on the margins of the leaves.

As the yellowing becomes as orchardgrass and bluegrass, will also produce fall growth with proper fertilization.

Most of the fescue growth for later grazing must be accumulated in August, September, and early October. Fescue produces very little dry matter after Oct. 25, even though fescue stays green.

Fescue should be top dressed from late July to mid-August to attain maximum fall production. Fertilizer applied then will be ready to go to work when rains fall in August and September.

A number of UMC experiments indicates that 60 to 80 pounds of nitrogen applied by August 1 will furnish all the N fescue needs for the fall growth period.

However, up to 100 pounds of nitrogen per acre are not out of line if one wishes to gamble on a little extra rainfall during the fall months.

Phosphorus and potassium are also important in fescue production. If fescue fields have not been top dressed since last year, mixture like 80-20-40 will do a good job of stimulating fall fescue growth.

The two points to remember about fertilizing fall fescue are keep the ratio of nitrogen high and apply it early enough so the fescue has an opportunity to use it.

D.H.I.

During the month of June, Lena and Chancey Houseworth supervised the testing of 15 dairy herds involving 636 cows in production and 75 dry cows.

The five highest herds for the month were the Longan Dairy, Lenz, Oelrich, Yeater & Rhoads and Clyde Rehmer.

Eleven highest producing cows ranged from 80 pounds of butterfat to 100 pounds and the milk production ranged from 2030 pounds to 2780 pounds.

Paul Neel and Richard Lenz each had a cow that produced over 500 pounds of butterfat in the last 305 days of milk production.

I visited recently with Chancey Houseworth at the hospital and he is recuperating as well as expected from his recent major operation. He plans to be moved to his home in a few days.

Johnsongrass Tour

Much progress has been made in Johnsongrass control in Pettis County. A field day is planned for Thursday to show some practices that have proved to be successful.

The first stop will be at 10:30 a.m. at the Robert Young farm in the Muddy Creek bottom on Highway H. Here one can see a field treated with Sutan and one with Atrazine. Also ansar was used along the border after the Johnsongrass was up.

At 1:30 p.m. the tour will be at the G. W. Meyer farm follow the blacktop road from the old Lutman store to the Paul Culp Jr. residence and then follow the signs. One field has been sprayed with ansar and one with Dalapon.

At each of these farms one can see how these men are producing good crops in fields that were heavily infested with Johnsongrass. Representatives of the Extension department, as well as some of the chemical field men, will be present. If you have a small Johnsongrass infestation, you can see how serious it could become after seeing some of the fields in this area.

more severe the leaf dies at margins and between the veins. Scorch may sometimes be more abrupt. Leaves suddenly turn brown and drop, either on one side of the tree, or throughout.

Scorch is usually a warning of some cultural problem. Severity can be increased by insects or diseases. Scorch occurs when water is lost from the leaves faster than it can be replaced. As a result, leaves dry up.

Many conditions lead to reduction of water in the leaves. Included are hot, drying winds, temperature above 90 degrees, or a period of wet, cloudy weather followed by hot, dry weather.

Weather conditions alone seldom cause leaf scorch but must be coupled with other unfavorable growing conditions.

Plants on shallow or poor soils, plants with defective root systems, or plants with asphalt or concrete over the root system are all more subject to scorch.

Newly planted trees often exhibit the problem during their first or second year because of the reduced root system.

Some plants are more easily affected than others. Trees which frequently show the condition are sugar maple, Norway maple, beech, oak, horsechestnut, linden, hickory, and mountain ash.

Small trees and shrubs that may develop the problem include Japanese maple, dogwood, hawthorn, magnolia, and lilac.

Evergreens such as arborvitae, rhododendron, azalea, andromeda, hemlock, pine, and spruce may also develop scorch.

Farm Roundup

Upgrading Ghetto Diet Is Goal of Department

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Departing from its normal routine of farm-related research, the Agriculture Department has joined the National Urban League in an experiment designed to upgrade the diets of ghetto youngsters.

Working with a $110,032 USDA grant, the Urban League began last month teaching preschool children at day care centers in Philadelphia proper food habits, the importance of nutrition and a variety of ways for preparing food.

Children at qualified day-care centers around the country already are provided food under programs administered by the Agriculture Department.

The curriculum at the Philadelphia centers will include field trips to stores, gardens, dairies and libraries; food talks and demonstrations; films on food; and art work based on sound nutrition.

Parents and other family members will be enlisted in the project in an effort to acquaint them with nutrition methods also.

The contract with the Urban League is for 18 months. At the end of that time, the department said, each child's eating habits will be evaluated.

If the program succeeds, the Urban League plans to expand it to nine other communities: Los Angeles; San Diego, Calif.; Chicago; New Orleans; Akron, Ohio; Columbia, S.C.; Sparta, Ga.; Westchester County, N.Y.; and Flint, Mich.

Scorch often indicates root problems of the plant. Disease may be affecting the roots. Wilt diseases in the stem, stem cankers, or heart rot in the trunk can all produce scorch symptoms.

Poor drainage can kill roots early in the season. This can lead to scorch as conditions dry. Drouth is the most common weather condition which brings on scorch symptoms in weakened plants.

In a poor growing situation a young plant or tree, once established, may not show scorch. However, as it becomes larger the limited root system it has developed cannot adequately support the top. And, scorch suddenly appears on an apparently healthy, large, mature tree or shrub.

It is especially important in areas of poor, tight soils to dig large planting holes and improve a large mass of soil when planting trees which are to become quite large. This is a preventive step toward avoiding dieback and possible death of a plant as it matures.

Thorough, deep watering is one of the most helpful steps to take when scorch is first noticed. Susceptible plants should be watered so they receive at least an inch of water per week. During drouths make sure water soaks to a depth of 8 to 12 inches or more.

Healthy trees are less susceptible to the problem than those growing poorly. Late fall or spring application of a complete fertilizer containing minor elements may promote vigor and reduce the problem. Do not fertilize after June, however, or soft growth, easily scorched, may be produced.

Controls Still Possible

Treasury Sec. John Connally left open the possibility Sunday that the President would impose wage and price controls on the labor industry should it become necessary. Connally also left open the possibility that he would support Nixon in 1972. The comments were made on CBS' Face The Nation.

Corn Growers Have Reported Expected Yield

BOONE, Iowa (AP) — The National Corn Growers Association, headquartered in Boone, announced Monday that national corn production this year should reach 4.77 billion bushels.

Officials said in the association newsletter the estimate was based on July 20 conditions and represented a reduction of not quite 1 per cent from an estimate made one month ago.

The association explained the estimate reduction was prompted by the fact that only about 10 per cent of the farmers who should have sprayed for corn borers in heavy infestation areas of the western corn belt did so. Officials said weather, severe corn rootworm spots and moderate southern leaf blight infestation also figured in the estimate.

Moth in the Ear

SAN FORD, Maine (AP) — An unidentified man came into the emergency ward of Henrietta Goodall Hospital during the weekend, complaining of a moth in his ear.

A skeptical nurse peered into the man's ear with an otoscope and there was the little creature buzzing around inside.

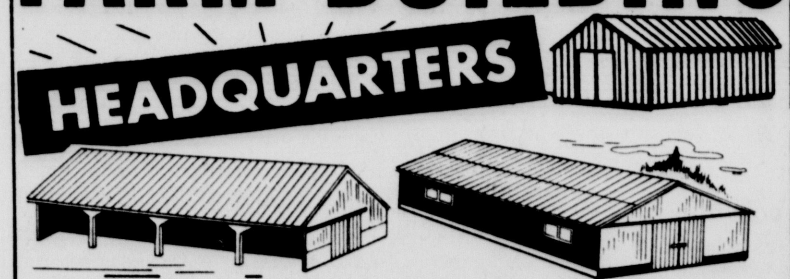

A physician repeated the examination and, attracted by the otoscope's light, the moth fluttered out of the man's ear.

Cost of Clean-Up Will Not Be Cheap

The morning mail brings a study in contrasts that says what it's all about in the environmental debate.

On the one hand we have the Port of Houston Magazine, gushing about new and expanding industries along the 50-mile Houston ship channel, our new shipping records and construction. Pure boosterism, Texas style.

Then there is the National Observer, which reports on the other side of the coin. The Stauffer Chemical Co., one of 108 plants along the banks of the ship channel, is under attack by the Texas Air Control Board for permitting dangerous emissions to escape into the air that have caused several cases of illness.

It is part of the price Houston has paid for its spectacular industrial growth. Water in the ship channel is some of the foulest to be found anywhere, air pollution is a major problem. Half of Galveston Bay has been closed to shellfish harvesting due to bacteriological and chemical agents in the channel.

This, in a nutshell, is the kind of dilemma we all face in what has been called the "environmental decade."

It pits the profit motive — one of the strongest forces in American life — against the desire to clean up the environment and make our air breathable and water drinkable again.

We might as well shed the illusion that we can do it all painlessly. It will cost money, and even jobs in some instances, as Houston is beginning to realize.

Senate Guards Against Return of McCarthyism

By CARL T. ROWAN

WASHINGTON — It seems such a shame to have the United States Congress tied up for days in argument about a do-nothing relic of the postwar witch-hunts called "The Subversive Activities Control Board."

Rowan

Unfortunately, such action by Congress is necessary if we are to prevent the use of the SACB to impose another spell of McCarthyism and ease the country a little further into police statism.

As things stand, the SACB is no big threat to the people's liberties. The courts long ago clipped the board's wings to the extent that it is just a $450,000-a-year boondoggling sop to those conservatives who still see Communists under every bed.

The board now rarely meets and on testimony of its chairman interviewed only three people last year. So it is hardly the great protector of the nation's security.

But the SACB has been of convenience to Presidents. When Lyndon B. Johnson wanted to favor one of his secretaries, he named her groom to a seat on this board.

When Richard Nixon wanted to curry favor with the rightwingers, he named one of their favorites, Otto F. Otepka, to a $36,000-a-year seat on the board. The Senate has yet to confirm Otepka, who is a sort of Daniel Ellsberg in reverse. Whereas Ellsberg leaked the "Pentagon papers" out of liberal, anti-war convictions, Otepka was fired by the State Department for leaking secret documents to senators known to share his right-wing sentiments.

With liberals (and conservative Democrats like Sen. Allen J. Ellender of Louisiana) complaining about spending half a million dollars a year for such a moribund outfit, President Nixon decided to give the SACB at least the appearance of doing something.

On July 2 he issued a little-noticed executive order that would empower the SACB to "determine whether any organization is totalitarian, fascist, Communist, subversive, or whether it has adopted a policy of unlawfully advocating the commission of acts of force or violence to deny others their rights under the Constitution or laws of the United States or of any state or which seeks to overthrow the government of the United States or any state or subdivision thereof by unlawful means."

Is anyone serious about giving this kind of mandate to Otto Otepka?

Simon F. McHugh, Jr., may be a nice guy and a nice husband to that former White House secretary, but surely President Johnson never dreamed he was making him a witch-hunter supreme.

Thanks to that ever-surprising civil libertarian, Sam J. Ervin, Jr., (D-N.C.), the Senate has voted SACB may use nary a dollar of its $450,000 appropriation to carry out the broad duties that Mr. Nixon wants to give it.

Ervin and others in Congress know that SACB's proposed new role would carry us back into that ugly era of punishment by smear and guilt by association.

When scores of groups are screaming for peace, who are these five members of SACB to decide that one organization is true-blue American and another subversive?

Who are they to decide which civil rights group is "too militant" and is to be labeled "totalitarian, fascist, Communist, or subversive?"

Every such listing serves to punish people who have not been tried or convicted.

charges. Knoxville, for example, frankly answered, "Yes, our elephant is in a cage like a cracker box."

Knoxville, like all zoos contacted, was concerned about conditions. The great majority said they were working to correct failings mentioned by the society, or had already corrected them.

The American Association of Zoological Parks and Aquariums, with a membership of 800 private and public zoos, suffers from the ailment of many such professional groups. They generally wink at the shortcomings of their members. An association official points out that all too often city governments turn deaf ears to zoo directors at budget time, and the helpless animals suffer the consequences.

High Octane Debate — Shell Oil has put the safety of some small aircraft last and profits first in suddenly discontinuing or curtailing supplies to many airfields of its 80-87 octane gas.

The gas is recommended for many light planes with piston engines. Until recently, Shell was willing to provide it to the more than 500 airports served by its distributors, some on a monopoly basis. Now Shell is pushing its new "Avgas" at up to five cents a gallon more in the West and two cents more in the East. Thus 80-87 is going the way of the good nickel cigar. Shell in Houston denied to us that the cheaper gas is discontinued. But Ocean City, Cambridge and Salisbury airports all told us that the Shell distributor has stopped supplying the fuel and advised the airports that Avgas is recommended for all engines. This runs counter to Teledyne Continental Motors, which questions the safety of using Avgas in some planes.

Named for Him

Harvard University is named for an immigrant Puritan minister, John Harvard, who died in 1638 leaving half of his estate and 400 books to the school, according to Encyclopaedia Britannica.

What worthwhile purpose does it serve in a free society for the attorney general or SACB to draw up a list telling me that the Ku Klux Klan or the Black Panthers are "subversive?" Let their deeds speak. If anyone in either group violates the law, let him be indicted, tried fairly, and if convicted, punished according to the law. This business of punishment by government blacklisting has no place in this society.

With a shift of four votes the Senate would have cut off funds and abolished SACB completely. Unfortunately, what Ervin called "a fear of freedom, a fear of the American people" is still so strong that the SACB was retained.

But if the board must continue, let it doze in do-nothing splendor the way it has for years. In which case I promise not to ridicule the SACB ever again, having learned the painful way that it is wise to let sleeping ogres lie.

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — The nation's zoos may only be a pleasant afternoon outing for the kids, but they are often chambers of horror for the once-wild beasts who languish in filth and straitjacket cages.

This is the shocking finding of an undercover survey by the Humane Society of the United States. The three-month probe covered 71 municipal and private zoos in 23 states.

The society has quietly written to 17 zoos telling them that if they don't correct the indignities to their animals, the society will "take such action as is necessary to achieve establishment of proper and humane conditions."

The searching inquiry, ordered by society president John Hoyt after letters told him of the anguish of zoo animals, was conducted by cherubic-looking 31-year-old Sue Pressman.

A former zoo hospital administrator with a master's degree in biology, Mrs. Pressman posed as a tourist while she sauntered among the cages, snapping hundreds of pictures and taking a volume of notes.

The society allowed my associate, Les Whitten, to see the photographs. They show these outrages:

— A bear in Pawtucket, R.I., sitting on his box-home to avoid the carpet of his own excrement on the cage floor;

— A gasping chimpanzee manacled to the bars of his tiny cell at "Chimp Farm" in Tarpon Springs, Fla.;

— A young tiger in Norristown, Pa., with cataracts on both his eyes;

— Another bear in Hershey, Pa., confined in a cage used to transport animals, but not approved for housing them.

The Society has also found these other repugnant conditions:

— At New York's Central Park Zoo, dilapidated old cages;

— At Thurmont, Md., a dead turtle in his pit coated with flies, three grizzlies in one small cage, animals without water, a chimpanzee gone bald from pulling out his hair in frustration.

— At Monomonee Falls Boys Ranch,

Merry-Go-Round

Shocking Cruelty In American Zoos

outside Milwaukee, a wolf dying even as the Society inspected the zoo;

— At Pittsburgh (in the municipal zoo area), three rare Siberian tigers in a small cage, covered with their own excrement, rats in the deer park snoutling the deer food, wall-to-wall elephants in the elephant cage. The Pittsburgh zoo society section was excellent in this Jekyll and Hyde establishment.

At "Monkeytown," Clearwater, Fla., 16 cages had no water; nine had water with algae growth in it. Some thirsty animals licked at the wet cement for traces of water. So shocked was Mrs. Pressman that she gave up her role as a tourist and told a zoo worker that, "I'm going to stay here until you put some water in there." The zoo did.

The Humane Society has also written to zoos in Knoxville, Tenn.; Buttonwood Park, New Bedford, Mass.; Space Farm, Sussex, N.J.; Shell-Land, in Clearwater, Fla.; Kemper Park, Hattiesburg, Miss.; Burnet Park, Syracuse, N.Y.; Brandywine Children's Zoo, Wilmington, Del.; Beardsley Park, Bridgeport, Conn.

The 44 municipal zoos and 27 private zoos inspected by the society are only a tiny per cent of the thousands of large and small zoos in the U.S. The Humane Society said it picked the zoos at random so that it is fair to estimate that about 25 per cent of U.S. zoos need immediate reform.

Along with scenes of raw insult to the animals, the Society found "clean but mean" cages in Atlanta. There a society photograph shows a black panther caged in an antiseptically clean, but small cell. Such zoos did not get society letters.

However, part of the purpose of zoos, the society explained, is to show visitors a simulated natural habitat. Such zoos as Tampa's Busch Gardens and, in some exhibits, the Washington, D.C., zoo do this admirably, the society said.

Not all the zoos are only demeaning to animals. In Bridgeport, the bear den excrement flowed into an open drain by a snack stand where children and their parents munched food.

We were able to reach 15 of the 17 zoos named by the Humane Society. Only at Space Farm Zoological Park and Hershey did we get a denial of all the society's Who's Not Listening To Whom?

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
NEA News Analyst

WASHINGTON (NEA) — We hear a lot these days from alienated Americans who say people in "the Establishment" won't "listen to us." Well, it isn't quite that neat.

Blossat

Rostow says he had several five- and six-hour sessions with SDS people, at his instigation. They emptied their guns at him.

Henry Kissinger, Rostow's counterpart in President Nixon's foreign policy hierarchy, has had a whole string of private meetings — in the White House and on such tough battlegrounds as Harvard — with students, academics and others.

This spring in Oregon, Sen. Edmund Muskie tossed away a speech for students at the University of Portland and let a gymnasium-full of largely hostile kids have at him for nearly two hours. At one point, a student got the floor to make a speech. It was a hot session.

In February, Sen. George McGovern gave students in New Hampshire a similar shot, and a few weeks later Sen. Birch Bayh let two dozen Harvard law students tell him "how it is." There are endless examples.

Obviously, the people who get these opportunities have to do some listening themselves. Nobody in the above roster is shy about talking.

It's no news, of course, that not all the alienated want to listen.

What really strikes hardest, though, are the cases where the alienated have gone past prosecution to proclaimed verdicts of "guilty" on a multitude of counts. In many such instances, the proclaimers don't want to sully their purity by the remotest contact either with particular establishment figures or anyone associated with them.

"You worked for Nixon, did you, fella? Well, then, I don't want to talk to you."

"You say your friend works for MUSKIE? I don't even want to meet her."

The juvenility of this cotton-in-the-ears approach ought to make it pretty rare in what we are told is the best-educated generation of students in our history. But it isn't all that rare.

It's related to a phenomenon that may be unique to our times — the positive quest of some for alienation from established society and its leaders.

Alienation as such is not at all new. In western civilization, at least, there have always been alienated groups — the grossly deprived, the national, racial and religious minorities, occasionally (not just in this age) the disenfranchised young.

In this time when talk of the 1950s is to go back beyond "relevant history" in some people's view, dragging up the more distant past will surely be assailed as both pointless and unforgivable. Nevertheless

Back to the famous Crusades in the 11th and 12th centuries. Most of us who remember anything about them from schoolbook days probably think of them as the treks across Europe of noble Christians bent on striking down the infidels in the Near East. Not quite!

Histories of the Crusades show that the mass of humans who made these treks were the alienated peasants of northern Europe, insecure in livelihood, detached from and unhappy with established society. Their marches through foreign lands cut a swath of murder, rape, looting and other outrages. They were society's rootless folk, on rampage.

Most alienated groups find no such outlet. They suffer outside the fold, or battle, alone or together, to get inside.

Those today who deliberately seek alienation (maybe not a large number) are planning their self-defeat. For history's cruel lesson, quite relevant, is that outsiders win nothing but death, poverty, bitterness and emptiness.

Palmer Finds Form To Win Tournament

HARRISON, N.Y. (AP) — A recharged Arnold Palmer, who birdied 23 of 72 holes en route to the $50,000 top prize in the Westchester Golf Classic, said the big thing about his big payday was a bogey.

Palmer, who matched his Saturday round of 68 for an 18-under-par 270 Sunday on the 6,700-yard Westchester Country Club course, put his tee shot on the 14th hole over the green, nicked it a mere six feet with his second shot, then chipped 12 feet past the pin and putted a bogey four.

"If there was one big thing that happened," he said, "that was it. The one thing I didn't want to do was leave it there."

"But it was a good putt for a bogey and gave me the rhythm I needed to finish."

He finished five strokes ahead of Gibby Gilbert and Hale Irwin, who collected $23,125 apiece in this richest of pro tournaments.

Gilbert was only three strokes back of Palmer at the start of the final round.

But Gilbert, who had stolen Palmer's famous charge Saturday when he birdied the final four holes, carded two bogeys and a birdie on the same four Sunday.

Irwin, who started the final round five strokes back, maintained the margin with four birdies for a 68.

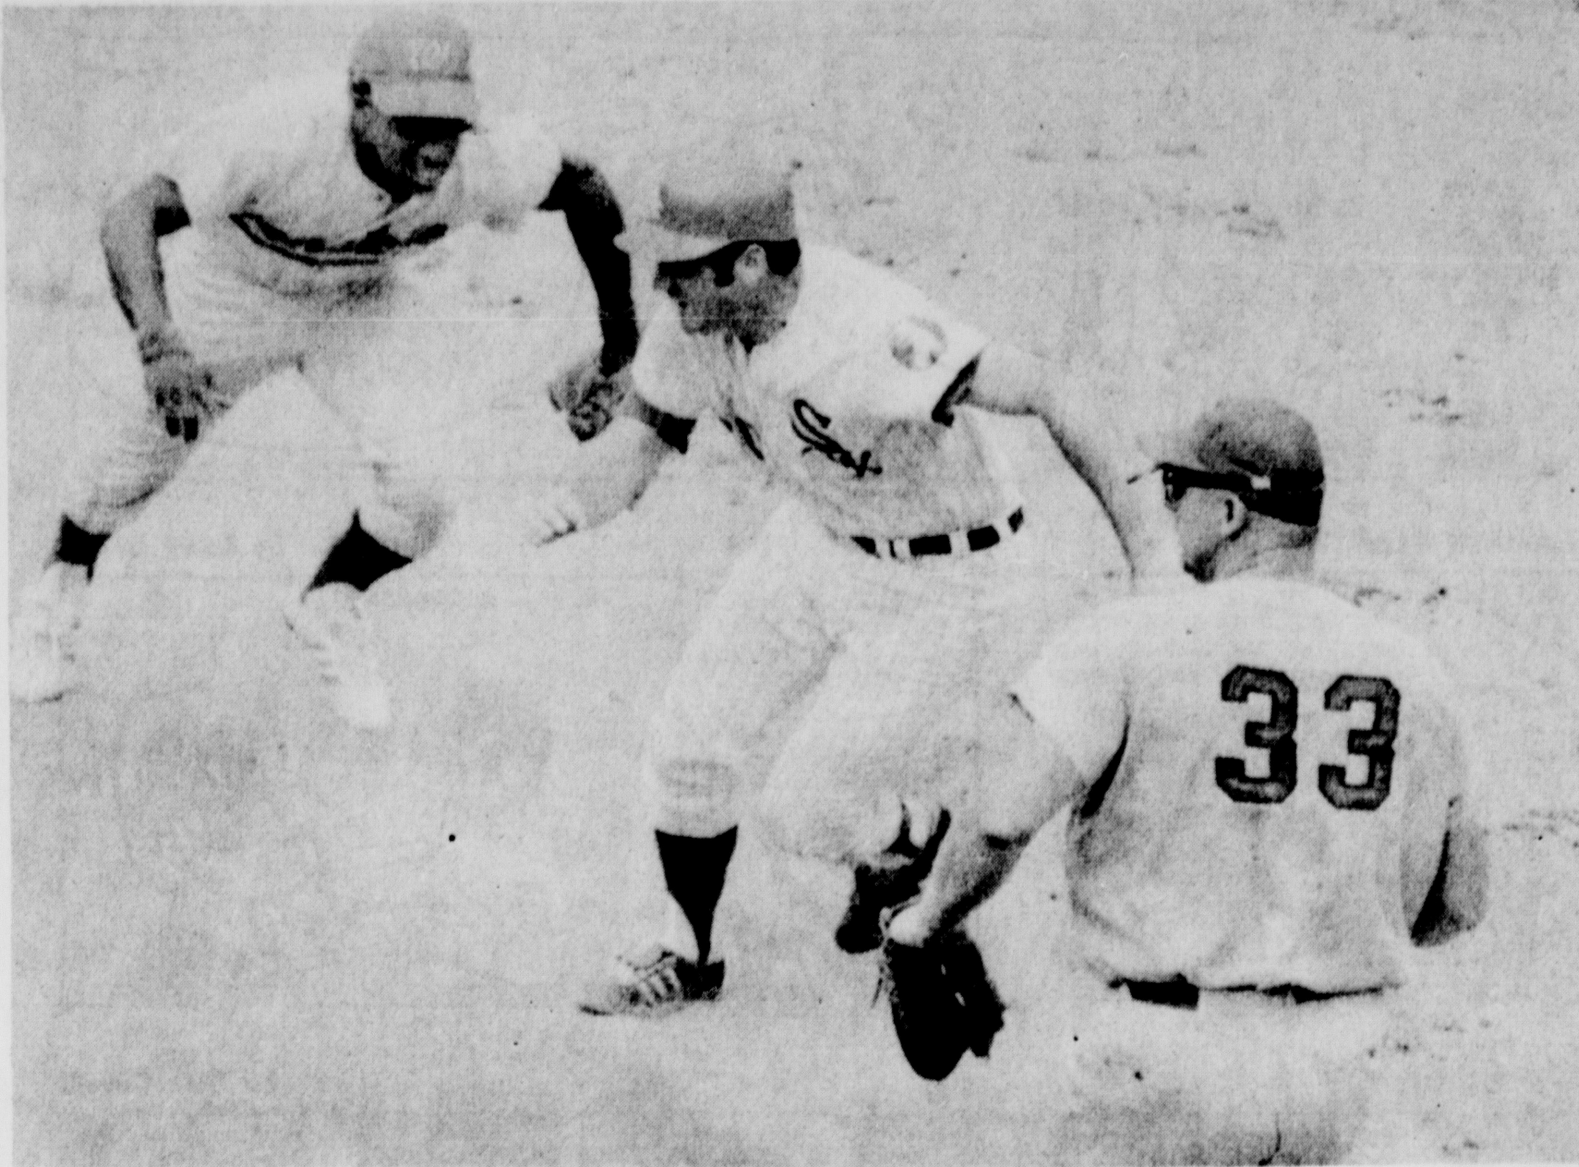

Sam Snead, the 59-year-old golfing wonder who has won 84 tournaments but had done no better than tie for 25th so far this year, stormed the course with a 68 Sunday to turn in an 11-under 277 and to tie Frank Beard for fourth and $11,000 each.

At 279 was Mason Rudolph, who started the final round two under but shot six birdies for a 30 on the front nine and wound up nine under. Knotted with him and also collecting $8,125 each were Bobby Nichols and Larry Wood.

PGA champion Jack Nicklaus, three under when he teed off, parred the front nine, then came on strong with five birdies on the back for an eight-under 280 and $6,500.

But the fantastic finishes, and the scores, 53 of them under par, were anti-climactic compared with Palmer's victory after a two-week layoff to collect his confidence, his concentration, the biggest paycheck of his career and a telephone call from President Nixon.

Caught in the Middle

game in Sunday's twinbill in Chicago. Morales' single drove in Ed Herrmann, helping the White Sox to a 5-1 win in the contest. Chicago made it a profitable day by winning the second contest, 9-6. (UPI)

Homan Felt Like A Light Fixture

LIBERTY, Mo. (AP) — "If I didn't like competition, I wouldn't stay in football," maintains Dennis Homan, newly acquired offensive end of the Kansas City Chiefs.

"At Dallas there were good receivers to compete against—Bob Hayes and Lance Rentzel," said the ex-Cowboy. "But here there are good ones too—Otis Taylor and Frank Pitts."

Homan said Dallas Coach Tom Landry "decided the starters on a merit basis and I won a starting job along with Rentzel. But they didn't throw the ball to me."

"In the six games I started they threw to me eight times and I made six catches. I didn't play much after that."

After the season Homan asked to be traded and was obliged in a deal that saw the Chiefs send offensive end Glosster Richardson to the Cowboys.

"I felt like a light fixture down there," Homan says. "I thought it was time for a change."

And what about the change?

"The attitude around here is great," he says of the Chiefs training camp at William Jewell College at Liberty. "On most clubs, you don't start getting this kind of attitude until the regular season starts."

"Here you have it right from the start of training camp."

Homan was fully aware of Kansas City Coach Hank

Stram's reputation as a no-nonsense taskmaster.

"This is nothing new to me," he said. "Hank coached our South team in the Senior Bowl."

"That's the type of game where everyone kind of relaxes and has a lot of fun. But Hank didn't work that way. He worked us to death. He wanted to win."

Homan is optimistic about his football future.

"I feel Hank will give you a fair shake," he says. "He'll work you hard but he'll be fair."

New Haven, Conn., will join the American Hockey League for the 1972-73 season.

Sedalia Loses

CMBJ West Race Is Tied

JEFFERSON CITY — The race for the divisional crown in the Central Missouri Ban Johnson League's Western Division are knotted again. Both Sedalia and Boonville are tied for the lead in the division with marks of 9-8.

Sedalia dropped an 11-6 decision to Jefferson City Sunday night, while Boonville trimmed Centralia, 3-1, to draw the teams into a first-place tie.

Other action Sunday night found Tipton blanking Marshall, 2-0, while New Franklin won over Columbia by means of a forfeit. Columbia could field only eight players and had to forfeit the game to visiting New Franklin.

In the Jefferson City-Sedalia contest, Sedalia starter Mark Sipperly was hit on the leg in the fourth inning by a line drive, but remained in the contest until the seventh, when he was removed. However, the damage had already been done and Sipperly was charged with the loss.

Larry Sapp was the winner for the Bears; he came on in relief in the sixth and was credited with the win.

Columbia, even though they had to forfeit to New Franklin, could clinch the Eastern Division title with a win over Tipton, Thursday night. Columbia now has a mark of 11-4 for the season, while Jefferson City is 9-8 for the campaign and is in second place.

Sedalia will play host to New Franklin Thursday night at Liberty Park at 8 p.m.

Hall Pressures Vets

By EARL GERHEIM
Associated Press Sports Writer

Cleveland head coach Nick Skorich thinks the Browns were on the beam when they made Charlie Hall their third draft choice.

In fact, Skorich says some of the veterans may find themselves out of a job if the aggressive 6-3, 217-pound rookie continues to look impressive on the practice field.

"He has fine footwork and doesn't make many mistakes," Skorich said after the Browns' scrimmage Sunday. "It's my feeling that he'll make somebody worry about a job before this whole thing is over."

Hall, who led the University of Houston football team in tackles the past two seasons, has been working on the left side behind veteran Jim Houston. And Skorich, who expressed worry about his line-backing strength before camp opened, didn't discount the possibility of assigning Hall to the right side where rookie Steve Casteel is battling veterans John Garlington and Billy Andrews for the starting nod.

Meanwhile, the Buffalo Bills traded one rookie and cut three others. Tight end John Redebaugh was swapped to the Detroit Lions for a future draft choice and cornerbacks Al Brown and Tony Sexton and tackle Andy Brown were trimmed from the roster.

Vic Suna, offensive tackle snared in the 12th round of the draft, was released on waivers by the Miami Dolphins. Wes Grant, acquired from the New York Giants after a squabble with Giants coach Alex Webster, arrived in camp and took part in drills.

Miami holdouts Jim Kiik and Larry Csonka remained absent Sunday, adding to the $200 daily fines they are being assessed for failure to report to camp.

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Muhammad Ali, the former king trying to regain his throne, and Jimmy Ellis, the former sparring partner trying to buy a tag, answer a list of intriguing questions tonight when they meet in a 12-round bout in the Astrodome.

What did the Joe Frazier fight take out of Ali? Does Ali still have enough speed? What will happen to boxing if Ali loses? Can Ellis elude Ali's deadly jab long enough to get off his lightning combinations?

A live gate of 25,000-30,000 in the Astrodome and possibly one million more watching on closed circuit television will see the answers unfold first-hand.

Although no title is at stake for this fight, it has taken on all the aspects of a championship bout, partly because of the pied-piper following of Ali, and partly because both fighters hope to use this fight to spring to another shot at Frazier's title.

Frazier represents the only blot on each fighter's heavy-weight record.

Closed circuit telecasts will be shown at 200 locations across the United States and in Toronto and Vancouver, Canada. Satellite will carry the fight to 34 foreign countries. British and Mexican television will cover the fight live. The live gate is expected to be about $300,000.

Ali will get 45 per cent of all income against a guarantee of $450,000, including the closed circuit revenue. Ellis gets 20 per cent of all income. Tickets are scaled from $75 for ring-side, to $25 and $10. There also are 10,000 "Ali special" seats at $5 each to meet a request from Ali.

It will be the first fight for Ali since a June 28 U.S. Supreme Court decision reversed a five-year conviction for draft evasion and once again left him free to regain the title that was stripped from him for refusing the draft.

Ali, one of the most magnetic personalities in fight history, lost for the first time in his 32-fight career on March 8 in a brutal contest with Frazier.

Ali has been asked constantly since opening training here, what the Frazier fight has done to him.

"Look at my face and look at his," Ali usually says. "He was messed up bad. I had a puffed jaw for a few days but it went away. He still looks bad. He had to take a hospital rest."

Ali admits his speed isn't quite what it used to be before his exile from fighting. "I'm past my prime," he said. "I know I'm in my last days."

He remembered a national magazine using a timing device to clock the speed of his punch. "It was .04 of a second," he said. "It takes .25 of a second to think about moving. You're hit before you know it." He joked that he's probably slowed down to .12 by now.

Royals Divide; Cards Whipped

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The St. Louis Cardinals move on to New York today for meeting with the Mets following Sunday's 5-4 loss to Montreal.

And Kansas City's Royals take a day off before starting a three-game series at Detroit on Tuesday. Sunday the Royals came within one hit of sweeping their series with Cleveland, but had to settle for a 4-3 victory before losing the nightcap 2-1.

John Bateman's grand slam homer in the fourth for the Expos tells the story of the St. Louis defeat. It broke a scoreless tie and provided Montreal the margin to keep St. Louis from sweeping the series.

All four of the St. Louis runs came in the seventh. Tonight Bob Gibson, who is now 7-9, will get the call against Ray Sadecki, who is 4-2 for New York.

Dick Drago was credited with the opening win for Kansas City, and in doing so set a club record. It was his fourth win against Cleveland — the first time any Royals pitcher has defeated the same club four times in one season.

Lou Piniella broke his own club record by getting a hit in each of 15 straight games. The old mark Piniella set in 1970.

It was the 10th victory for Kansas City this season in 12 meetings with the Indians.

In the first game, Cookie Rojas' two-run single highlighted the four-run third inning.

In the second game, the score was knotted 1-1 in the eighth when Ken Saurez knocked in the winning run.

Sedalia Jr. BR All-Stars Lose

JEFFERSON CITY — The Sedalia Junior Babe Ruth All Stars were eliminated from state play Sunday afternoon by Jefferson City as the hosts whipped Sedalia, 8-6 in the opener, and came back to down Sedalia again in the last game of the double-elimination tournament, 5-4, and win the tourney championship.

Jefferson City will now advance to the state playoffs at Lebanon.

Sedalia opened the first game by scoring three runs in the top of the first, which saw Pete Kostopolus swat his second home run of the playoffs. The homer was a solo affair, but two more runs crossed the plate in the inning to give Sedalia an early 3-0 margin.

Jefferson City went scoreless in the first inning, but countered with four in the bottom of the second. Sedalia

John Morton Wins Challenge Event

OLATHE, Kan. (AP) — John Morton of Torrance, Calif., continued his dominance of the 2.5 Trans Am Challenge races Sunday, sweeping to his fourth victory in five starts.

Morton's latest triumph was in the second annual Greater Kansas City Grand Prix, which was attended by a crowd estimated in excess of 35,000.

Morton averaged 78.81 miles an hour in a BRE Datsun 510 for 60 laps around the 2.2-mile course at the old Olathe Naval Air Station.

Morton started in the pole position and never lost it. At the end of the race, he held a comfortable lead over Lee Midgley of Riverside, Calif., who was driving a Shankle Alfa Romeo GTA.

Finishing third was the driver who was expected to challenge Morton, Horst Kwech of Gurnee, Ill. Kwech drove a Weston Alfa Romeo GV.

Jefferson City scored lone runs in the third and sixth and added a lone run in the bottom of the sixth on their way to the 8-6 decision.

Darrell Leven was the winning pitcher in relief for Jefferson City; Steve Bartlett, was the starter, but Terry Coutts took the loss for Sedalia.

Since the defeat was Sedalia's first of the tournament, the teams were forced into a final and deciding game.

Jefferson City scored lone runs in the third and sixth and added a lone run in the bottom of the fourth, when they chased across three tallies to post the victory.

Sedalia scored a pair of runs in the fifth to pull to within one and tied the game at 4-4 in the top of the sixth on a pair of unearned runs. Jefferson City countered with the winning run in the bottom of the sixth.

Gary Amos, who came on in the sixth in relief of starter Brad Bledsoe, was the winning pitcher; Tony Lock was charged with the loss.

Bubby Jones Wins At Capital Track

HOLTS SUMMIT — Super-sprint driver Bubby Jones of Danville, Ill., made the trip to Capital Speedway here Saturday night and took home the lion's share of the purse as he headed Russell Hibbard, Slater, Tom Corbin, Carrollton and Roy Hibbard, Marshall, across the finish line in the super-sprint feature race and grabbed the checkered flag.

Rounding out the top five finishers in the event was Jerry Camfield, another Illinois driver from Argenta, Ill.

George Lasoski, Dover, Mo., won the B-modified event; Wib

Spalding, Granite City, Ill., took the top honors in the late model event, while Tom Frasher, Jefferson City, was the hobby stock victor.

In the super-sprint heat races, Jones, Russell Hibbard and Camfield picked up the first-place money.

Ricky Darling, Marshall, and Lasoski posted wins in the B-modified heat races.

Finishing behind Lasoski in the B-modified feature were Jim Jenkins, Slater, and Roy Comstock, Versailles.

Leonard Dale, Moberly, Tom Frasher, Jefferson City, and Bob Miner, St. Louis, rounded out the top four places in the late model feature. Dale and Spalding won the two heat events, as well.

Terry Turpin, and Tom Hazelhorst, both of Jefferson City, took second and third respectively in the hobby class, while Dale Edwards, Russellville, finished fourth.

Revson Captures Third Cup Race

By BLOYS BRITT
AP Auto Racing Writer

Peter Revson and Mark Donohue are keeping young America happy in auto racing, while Richard Petty sails blithely along toward the first $1-million career among stock car drivers.

Revson is 32, a member of New York's socialite family, and he is a bachelor. Donohue is 34, a baby-faced Brown University graduate from Media, Pa., and he runs in top-rank social circles.

Petty, 33, is a family man who lives quietly near his Petty Engineering compound in the red clay county around Randleman, N.C., but he is the senior of the other three in experience.

The handsome Revson won his second Can-Am Challenge Cup road race in a row before 75,000 Sunday at Watkins Glen, N.Y. He led all but 27 laps of an 82-lap race and collected more than $18,000. It will help pay the taxes on the $108,000 he was paid for a second-place finish in this year's Indianapolis 500.

Donohue not only ran the Can-Am at the Glen, but he sat on the pole for a six-hour race at the same circuit Saturday. He led that race in a Roger Penske-Ferrari until sidelined by mechanical problems.

He was also forced out of the Can-Am with a broken suspension component, but he had won five straight races going into the Glen doubleheader.

Petty, whose white-toothed smile is a constant thing in the South, won career No. 132 at Nashville, Tenn., Saturday night. He led all but 20 laps of a 250-miler and his first-place check of $4,025 put him within less than $5,000 of the $1-million career mark.

Revson drove 109 miles at the Glen at an average speed of 128.58 miles an hour, giving the British-based Team McLaren its third victory in four starts in Can-Am competition this year. Only Scotland's Jackie Stewart has broken the team's 1971 string, winning the second event of the series at St. Jovite, Quebec, a month ago.

Denis Hulme, the senior McLaren driver, came in second—making it the 27th one-two finish for the team in 36 races in four years. Jo Siffert of Switzerland was third, Mario Andretti fourth and Tony Adamson fifth.

An Alfa Romeo Spider driven by Andre de Adamich of Italy won Saturday's six-hour endurance run at the Glen. It also made an appearance in the Can-Am and finished seventh.

Roger McCluskey nosed out A. J. Foyt on the 99th lap and won the Foyt-McCluskey Classic race for U.S. Auto Club late model stock cars in Terre Haute, Ind.

Foyt took over the lead from McCluskey on the 40th lap of the 100-lap event but then fell behind near the end. McCluskey covered the distance in an unofficial record time of 46:08.

13-Defining "Percentages" work the ball in toward the hole from there.

In other words, if the pin is tucked into the left-rear corner behind a bunker, there's no way I'm going to aim at it. I'll shoot at the center of the green, and draw the ball from right to left in the direction of the pin.

I have a third more green to shoot at in case I don't hit a perfect shot. If the ball doesn't draw, I'm still in the middle of the green with a putt for a birdie.

That's playing the percentages the way the pros play them.

Dr. Pepper Wins Twinbill

The Dr. Pepper softball team added two more victories to their record Sunday night at Housel Park as they downed Eldon in a twinbill by scores of 10-0 and 5-4.

Jim Werneke hurled a four-hitter in the opener for the locals, while Wendell and Wayne Brandes, along with Ken Hampt smacked home runs for Dr. Pepper in the shutout. Jack McCary was the losing pitcher in the opener.

Dr. Pepper picked up a lone run in the first, added another in the second, two in the fourth, while the winning tally came home in the sixth.

Dale Fangohr picked up the victory; like Werneke in the opener, Fangohr allowed only four hits in the outing. Bill Cedarburg was charged with the loss.

Dr. Pepper will again see home action Sunday night at Housel Park, playing host to Clear Creek. The twinbill against Clear Creek will mark the second and third meetings between the two squads this season; Dr. Pepper took a 4-0 victory in the earlier affair.

Arrest Communist Chief

KHARTOUM (AP) — Sudanese President Jaafar el Numairi's forces arrested the fugitive chief of the Communist party at dawn today and held him for a military trial on charges of masterminding the unsuccessful coup last week, the government radio announced.

It was assumed that the Red leader, Abdul Khalek Mahjoub, would be executed. Eight leaders of the 74-hour rebellion have already died before firing squads, and a ninth, Col. Babikir el Noor, is still on trial in Khartoum.

A broadcast statement from Numairi's office called Mahjoub "the number one enemy of the nation, the chief saboteur," and urged the Sudanese people to help hunt down four of his aides still at large.

It said a Sudanese, who was not identified, had tipped the army to Mahjoub's hiding place in Khartoum.

Al Ahram, Cairo's semi-official newspaper, reported that Mahjoub engineered the revolt from the Bulgarian Embassy. The paper said Mahjoub had taken refuge there after he escaped from prison four weeks ago, but the Bulgarians denied the report.

The pro-Soviet Communist party that Mahjoub led is considered the best organized and largest in the Arab world with 6,000 members. Numairi's government claims there are 10,000 to 20,000 Communists in Sudan.

Soon after he regained power last Thursday, Numairi ordered all Communists arrested. He had outlawed the party last February because it opposed his plans to join Egypt, Syria and Libya in an Arab federation.

Maj. Farouk Osman Hamadallah was the rebel leader executed Sunday. He and el Noor, who had been named chairman of the seven-man rebel junta, were en route from London to Khartoum when Libyan fighters forced their British airliner to land at Benghazi. They were taken off the plane and handed over to Numairi.

Numairi praised Libya and Egypt for supporting him during the upheaval. He told a news conference that he was looking into allegations that the Soviet Union, the United States, Britain and Communist China were among those responsible for the coup. But he said so far the only country he could prove had supported the rebels was Iraq, the only Arab nation to recognize the rebel Junta. He said documents had been found indicating the ruling Baath Socialist party in Iraq had backed the coup.

Numairi said 38 persons were killed and 119 wounded in the coup and counter coup.

Columbus Troubled By Sniper Gunfire

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP) — Scattered firebombings and shots which police said were fired by snipers plagued this city Sunday night despite a call for a voluntary curfew by Mayor J.R. Allen.

Racial disorders began in mid-June when 500 blacks marched to protest the firing of seven Negro policemen who picketed police headquarters to protest alleged discrimination against black residents and police by the department.

Violence erupted again Saturday night as scores of police and state patrolmen clashed with some 200 demonstrators near police headquarters.

Police moved in to make arrests after the demonstrators failed to heed police orders to disperse. Police said no permit for the demonstration had been issued. Fifteen persons were arrested and four black demonstrators and a white newsman were injured.

Authorities reported 10 firebombings Saturday night and early Sunday. Several fires which police said were set blazed intermittently into the night Sunday and early today.

Two policemen, a fireman and a store security guard were wounded by what Police Capt. Milan Rand called sniper fire Saturday night and early Sunday. The guard was hospitalized.

Rand said shots also were fired at police cars and fire trucks as they passed through black neighborhoods, at firemen fighting fires in several vacant houses and at policemen guarding the firefighters. Police returned the fire, Rand said.

Police said patrol cars continued to be harassed by occasional fire Sunday night, but no injuries were reported.

About 75 state troopers—the second contingent to be sent into Columbus in five weeks to aid local officers—remained on alert.

Launch Enthusiasts Crowd Cape Kennedy

By F. T. MacFEELY Associated Press Writer CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Apollo watchers from around the globe joined Brevard County's 225,000 home folks today to see the beginning of a rocket trip designed to put America's seventh and eighth men on the moon.

Beefed-up state and local law enforcement staffs were prepared to handle a million or more space fans and the plain curious.

The largest crowd ever to jam this sand pit along the Atlantic was estimated at just over a million when history's first moonwalkers, Neil A.

Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin, and their moon orbiting sidekick Michael Collins began their journey two years ago this month.

The most important visitors had ringside seats at the VIP site three miles from the towering Saturn 5 rocket of Apollo 15.

Congress is represented by 32 House members and nine senators, most of them supporters of funds aimed at keeping the United States ahead of the Soviet Union in the space race.

In the foreign contingent are three leaders of the oil-rich little country of Kuwait, headed by Sheikh Jabir Abdullah al-Habir al-Sabah, governor of Ahmade Province.

Also here are fashion designer Emilio Pucci of Italy, who designed the Apollo 15 emblem; German, Japanese and British government delegations, and 185 members of the British Astronomical Society and Royal Astronomical Society, who brought along their own musical combo, "The Moody Blues."

But most of the Apollo watchers are middle-class people who made the Cape Kennedy launch a part of vacation travel.

"I counted license plates from 28 states and Ontario," said Hal Shelton, operating a coffee and soft drink stand for Elks Lodge charities in the Jetty Park campground. "That's more than I saw last January when Apollo 14 went off on a Sunday and created terrible traffic jams."

School Principals

There are an estimated 50,000 men and women principals both teaching and supervising, in the elementary schools of the United States. They average 45 hours a week in direct school duties and five hours more in supplementary school-related tasks.

Crowned Miss Universe At International Pageant

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — "Beauty isn't enough for a woman," says shapely Miss Universe 1971.

"If you lack intelligence and charm, you're a loser."

Lebanon's Georgina Rizk recounted experiences Sunday that led to her crowning as successor to Puerto Rico's Marisol Malaret.

"Even an ugly woman, if feminine and gracious, can be most interesting to a man ... more interesting than a beautiful girl who lacks soul."

Miss Rizk, draped in a Kasbah dancing girl costume, won the judges' votes Saturday night with her 35-24-35 figure.

Georgina has been a model since age 14. Her dream is to become a world famous cover girl.

"My work has taken me to Germany, Cyprus, Italy, Belgium and Kuwait," said the 18-year-old. "I hope to do my work good as Miss Universe and see the rest of the world."

The work begins with visits to New York, the Bahamas, Puerto Rico and Brazil during the next few weeks.

"I have a boyfriend, Philippe Duce, back in Beirut," she said. "He may not be so happy since I will be away for most of the next year. Yes, he's a little bit jealous."

Duce, a Frenchman, is a university chemistry student.

Her rewards as Miss Universe include $10,000 in cash and a $5,000 mink coat.

"All this will change my life—for one year," the 5-foot-7 beauty said. "Then, I'll come at least part of the way down to earth again."

Toni Rayward of Australia was first runnerup, followed among five finalists by Pirjo Lahtila of Finland, Beba Franco of Puerto Rico and Eliane Parreira Guimaraes of Brazil.

Cherri Creque of the Virgin Islands became the first black ever to make the list of 12 semifinalists.

Also named semifinalists were Marilyn War of England, Myriam Stocco of France, Eddy Orgad of Israel, Shigeko Takeomi of Japan, Josefina Roman of Spain and Miss USA, Michele McDonald of Butler, Pa.

Dye Renovates Stair Carpet

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — The tread edges of my carpet began to show wear so badly that even the carpet warp showed but as the rest was good I hated to replace it. I mixed a small amount of dye in a matching color and applied to the worn places with an old toothbrush and am so satisfied with this renovation. — MRS. R. B.

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY — I stained the knotty pine walls in my living room but this made the walls too dark. How can I lighten this wood? I do not want to paint it white as I do not think knotty pine looks pretty when painted. — MARY S.

DEAR POLLY — Several companies are packaging their products so attractively (one example is facial tissue) and then the grocery help stamps the price in a very obvious and conspicuous place. This is my Pet Peeve. Couldn't the price be put on the bottom? — MRS. D. B.

DEAR POLLY — Like Barbara, I, too, wanted to restore my white summer necklaces to their original color. A neighbor advised me to try painting one with white nail polish and I found this worked beautifully on mine. — MARY McW.

DEAR GIRLS — White costume jewelry could be made of several different materials so a general rule is impossible. Much of the run-of-the-mill white summer jewelry will take well and benefit from a good washing. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — A saw-horse is a most useful possession but storing one is a nuisance. Finally I found a handy way to get mine out of the way. Bore holes in the legs about six or eight inches from the bottom. Put two big nails in the wall that are spaced just far enough apart so that the sawhorse can be hung upside down on the nails close to the ceiling in the garage, basement or store room. The horse fits snugly against the wall, high up out of the way and yet easy to get down and use. — MRS. I. B.

DEAR POLLY — To protect our camera and films from the heat while carrying them in the car we put all this paraphernalia in a plastic foam thermal container. — Works perfectly! — MILDRED.

Searched For Gold Inside City Park

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gary Hanekamp spent the weekend digging for gold in a city park and found none. City officials weren't surprised.

Hanekamp, a 30-year-old drapery installer, got permission to dig at Elysian Park when a metal detector gave a weak but encouraging reading. He agreed to share any gold with the city.

After two days Hanekamp and a few volunteer helpers had blistered hands and two broken picks.

To Represent Missouri

Miss Kansas City, Deborah Ruth Duff, 19, was crowned Miss Missouri Saturday at the state pageant held in Mexico. Miss Duff will compete in the Miss America Pageant in September. Miss Duff, 5'7", a sophomore at the University of Missouri-Kansas City, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Duff, Kansas City. (UPI)

KC Girl Wins Missouri Title

MEXICO, Mo. (AP) — A green-eyed blonde from Kansas City is this year's winner in the Miss Missouri beauty pageant.

Deborah Ruth Duff, 19, won swimsuit and talent honors here Saturday night to become the successor to former state queen, Marcia Mossbarger.

Debby claimed a $1,500 college scholarship and will represent Missouri in September for a shot at the Miss America title in Atlantic City, N.J.

The five-foot-seven daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Duff performed a modern dance in American Indian style to take top talent honors. During the question-and-answer part of the pageant she told the emcee she enjoyed watching football action by the Kansas City Chiefs during her job as a Chief's cheerleader.

Debbie defeated 31 beauties selected from around the state. First runnerup was Charleen Shepard, 19, of Raytown. Next was Jody Boggs, 21, of Columbia. The third runnerup spot went to Miss Tri-Lakes, Sarah Neely, 19, and Miss Lewis County, Barbara Bledsoe, 18, was fourth runnerup.

NEW YORK (AP) — Families throughout the country prefer plastic bottles in purchasing drugstore items, according to a survey by Sales Management magazine.

The study showed buyers chose plastic containers because they don't break and seem to keep pills fresh and powder dry.
